

GENERAL FUND

The General Fund is established to account for the revenues, other financing sources, expenditures and other financing uses traditionally associated with operating governmental service functions, except for those resources required to be accounted for in another fund.